New tourism website launched

Finding information on where to stay and what to do in the district is now even easier with the new Visit The Malverns website.

The site has been completely revamped over the last year and now boasts a refreshed design with new high-quality images to showcase the area at its best.

There is a new highlights section on the homepage picking out great things to see and do and suggested activities for couples, families and even dog lovers.

There is also a new health and wellbeing section promoting the many great ways The Malverns can help you stay active and enjoy being outdoors. This includes a comprehensive section on suggested routes to explore on foot or by bike, with more being added all the time.

Event organisers are encouraged to submit information to the site for the what's on list and all tourism and hospitality businesses can get a free business listing by emailing info@visitthemaalverns.org

The increased interest in staycations and day trips in the UK because of lockdown restrictions has seen traffic to the website surge by 37 per cent. The site is on course to receive more than 400,000 visits this year and over one million page views. Take a look at the newly revamped website.
